Opening off Mrs. Bonner's room on the second floor is a bower of flowers, watered every day by laborers on the place. A ladder is used to reach them. There has been found trace of muddy knots on the sofas in Mrs. Bonner's bouldoir. This leads Mrs. Bonner to believe some one entered her room through the second story window on the afternoon of the burglary, when she was absent for a short time. No one saw the safe after Tuesday morning, and there is no positive evidence that it was in the house Tuesday night.
